

REBELS PLOT FALL STRATEGIC POINTS

SIMULTANEOUS ATTACK ON TORREON AND MAZATLAN IS GENERAL VILLAS' PLAN.

TO MOVE ON INTERIOR

Capture of Two Important Cities Will Mean Complete Control of Northern Mexico.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Juarez, March 19.—A simultaneous attack on Torreón and Mazatlán was predicted today in advices received here. It was said that while General Villa's rebel army was moving against the two cities, General Alvarado Obregón would assault Mazatlán. Obregón was reported to be moving 1,200 troops against the Pacific coast port. This was said to be part of a general plan for an aggressive movement against all federal forces in northern Mexico. General Obregón, as commander of the northwestern military zone, would have charge of operations along the west coast while General Villa, as constitutionalist commander in Chihuahua, would assault Torreón.
Plan Interior Conquest.
The fall of Mazatlán, it was considered, would mean virtual control of the west coast. The capture of Mazatlán, the capture of which would threaten the capital of the country. After the capture of these two points both armies could move against Guadalupe, which is the strategic key to the interior.
According to the plans Guaymas will be ignored in hopes that the California gulf port will fall with the capture of Mazatlán. In the projected campaign on the west coast the gulf port, Tampico, recently surrendered to the insurgents, will be employed to counteract the two federal garrisons remaining on the coast. Mazatlán is considered to be a more important point than Guaymas which has been attacked repeatedly without result.
It was said that the simultaneous movement against Torreón and Mazatlán had received the sanction of General Carranza, now marching overland into Chihuahua, but whom it was said had been in frequent touch by wire with insurgent military commanders.
Conference With Lind.
Washington, March 19.—While no official word came to the White House today of the reported purpose of General Huerta to reopen parties with the United States by appointing his minister of foreign affairs, Jose Rojas, to Vera Cruz to confer with John Lind, administration officials indicated a willingness to listen to any new proposals for a peaceful settlement. They seem to attach most importance at this time to the outcome of the impending battle at Torreón which is expected to mark a critical turn in the strength and prestige of the contending factions.
MAY SET QUARANTINE AGAINST HAWAIIAN FRUITS
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Washington, March 19.—The Department of Agriculture today considered the question of establishing a plant quarantine against Hawaiian fruits and vegetables. The hearing today was given because of the presence of the "Medusa" fruit fly in Hawaii. This insect damages citrus fruits, peaches, beans, tomatoes, green peppers and other fruits and vegetables.

DEMOCRATS HOLD STATE CONVENTION

Name Candidates for State Offices at Indiana Convention—Considering Platform.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Indianapolis, March 19.—Nominations of candidates for every state office except that of governor and a candidate of United States senator was the work before the state convention here today. There were 1,886 delegates.
Party leaders said that Senator Shively would not be opposed for the nomination for United States senator but the contests for the other places on the ticket were very spirited.
Praise Administration.
High tribute was paid to President Wilson, Vice President Marshall and Secretary Bryan in the platform of the democratic party adopted at the state convention here today. Such a fulfillment of party pledges in the first year has not been paralleled in the history of the country, the document says.
"The democracy of Indiana, reads the platform, in delegate convention assembled."
Favor Primary Law.
After an all night session of the resolutions committee a platform for consideration of the convention was adopted, including a plank proposed by United States Senator B. F. Shively. It called for the party on record as favoring a state wide primary law. The vote on the plank was 7 to 6.
After the platform had been completed members of the committee expressed their opinion that President Wilson and Secretary Bryan had not written voluntarily the letters to Senator Kern endorsing the state wide primary but had been asked to do so. The primary plank as adopted by the committee declares for a state wide primary law.
For a state wide primary law, for the nomination of all officers, but save for the state convention for "council organization and declaration of party principles."

NORTHWESTERN MAY BUILD NEW SHOPS

Road May Establish Big Yards at Green Bay With Car Manufacturing Factory.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Green Bay, March 19.—Big car shops are to be built in Green Bay by the Northwestern road within a year, it is believed. Officials of the road are figuring to erect shops for the purpose of manufacturing box cars and gondola cars.
Land Agent Cleveland of the road was in the city yesterday and it is said he looked up available property near a roundhouse which the road built this year at a cost of $200,000. In large cities the road has but trouble in securing lands at reasonable prices and labor troubles have occurred, so officials have favored locating in this city.
Word was received here today by the C. & N. St. P. office of the building of the Spring depot, seven locked coaches of mail and three cars. The origin of the fire is not known. The contents of the coaches also is not known. They were transferred from the Soo line.

ANOTHER MINISTER GIVES UP HIS POST

NEW COMPLICATIONS ARISE IN FRENCH CABINET RESULT OF EDITOR'S MURDER.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Paris, March 19.—Madame Caillaux's assassination of Gaston Calmette, editor of the Figaro, brought about another change in the French cabinet today when Ernest Monis, minister of marine, added his resignation to that of Joseph Caillaux, minister of finance. A meeting of the cabinet council accepted the resignation.
For the present Albert F. Le Brun, minister of colonies, will act as minister of marine.
Madame Caillaux is still the object of deep popular sympathy.
The resignation of M. Monis was caused by statements made in the chamber of deputies that while he was premier he had exerted powerful influences on the public prosecutor, Victor Fabre, to postpone the trial of Henri Rochette, who was alleged to have swindled the public out of sums aggregating twenty million by fraudulent stock propositions. Rochette disappeared while on bail.
PRINCE SEEKS PARDON OVER DEATH SENTENCE FOR PART IN MURDERS
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Paris, March 19.—Prince Cuong De, pretender to the throne of Annam, and ruler of China, now believed to be hiding in Germany, today was expected to start formal proceedings for a pardon in France. He has been sentenced to death by the French authorities for his part in the Hanou outrage where several French officers were killed in July, 1913.

PRESIDENT WILSON WILL ADDRESS NATIONAL PRESS CLUB ON OPENING NIGHT

Washington, March 19.—The National Press Club, whose active and associate membership includes local newspapermen, correspondents representing hundreds of American and foreign dailies, congressmen, federal officials and diplomats, tomorrow will formally open the new club rooms on the top floor of one of Washington's tallest and most pretentious office buildings in the center of the business district. President Wilson has accepted an invitation to address tomorrow's gathering.

CZAREVITCH TO VISIT ENGLAND THIS SUMMER WITH SERVICE GUARDS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
London, March 19.—The Czarevitch is expected to make a visit to England this summer, according to a dispatch today from St. Petersburg, under the care of his grand-aunt Queen Mother Alexandra. He will probably spend several weeks at Eastbourne, or some neighboring resort on the south coast, where the climate is supposed to be particularly good for the complaint from which he is suffering. He will be accompanied by a small army of Russian secret service guards.

PRESIDENT DENIES JONES' INTIMATION

Wilson Has Conference With Washington Senator Who Later Retracts Statements to Senate.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, March 19.—President Wilson told Senator Jones, republican of Washington today, that he was "skating on thin ice" in his speech yesterday, which broadly intimated that the president had not decided to read a message to congress on the Panama tolls question until after Sir Lionel Gordon, British minister to Mexico, visited the White House.
Wilson Denies.
The senator came to discuss with the president certain regulations of a pending fisheries bill affecting the salmon industry in the northwest, but Mr. Wilson turned the conversation to the senator's speech of yesterday. The president told callers afterward that he could not get a suggestion on the Mexican question out of Sir Gordon, "with a cork-screw," and that the conference was purely for information on the general situation in Mexico.
Senator Jones today returned to the capitol and gave the senate the president's unqualified denial.
Jones Retracts.
"The president assures me," said Mr. Jones, "there was no basis for the articles referred to, that he warrants the conclusions with regard to this government and its relations with Great Britain in the matter. I think I was misunderstood in that I did not make the concluding myself, but took them from newspaper reports. I think it only just to the president that I make this statement because I do not desire to misrepresent anybody."

RESCUED ALIVE BUT DIES SHORTLY AFTER

Thomas Burke Is Taken From Under Tons of Debris Alive—Tells Tales and Then Passes Away.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

St. Louis, Mo., March 19.—Thirty-seven and a half hours after he had been buried under tons of debris Thomas Burke, taken from the ruins of the St. Louis Seed Company building alive this morning. The seed company's building was demolished when a portion of a seven-story building of the burned Missouri Athletic Club building collapsed over on Tuesday afternoon. Thirty lives were lost in the fire that destroyed the athletic club structure. Burke died at the hospital a few hours after being taken out.
During the early morning hours three bodies were taken from the seed company ruins, bringing the total of recovered dead to six.
Workmen digging in the ruins to extricate a body were startled by cries for a drink from under the wreckage in the basement. Officials sent the entire force of eighty men to work in an effort to locate the caller. They found a hoist of frantic digging the men tore away the debris, finding a living and a heavy beam which pinned Burke and a dead body.
When Burke was taken from the debris he pleaded for a drink and then started to tell of his experiences, but ambulance physicians who were on the scene forbade him to speak because of his weakened condition. He was taken to the city hospital suffering badly from bruised feet and died shortly after being brought the total recovered dead to seven.

UNKNOWN SCHOONER SUNK IN COLLISION

North German Lloyd Steamer Strikes Boat in North Sea—Entire Crew Is Lost.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Bremen, March 19.—An unidentified three masted schooner was sunk and her crew drowned through a collision last night in the North Sea with the North German Lloyd liner Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse.
The steamer remained in the vicinity for two hours but could not discover any trace of the schooner's crew. She then resumed her voyage to America.
The Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse left Bremen yesterday on her first trip since her reconstruction as a third class and steamer passenger vessel. Captain sent the news of the collision in a wireless message to the company here.

KANSAS CITY STILL EXPERIENCES WINTER

Population of Missouri City Resurrects All Overcoats Today, As Temperature Goes Down.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Kansas City, Mo., March 19.—Heavy overcoats consigned to moth-proof quarters when signs of spring became pronounced here early last week were hastily resurrected today. A temperature several degrees below freezing caused Kansas City to shiver, while a snow and ice covered landscape completed the suggestion of the lingering winter.
Snow fell over western Missouri and most of Kansas during last night and today adding to the three inches that came in many sections yesterday. Temperatures glided downward and today most thermometers in this territory registered more than 60 degrees under the high point of Sunday when 92 was recorded here.

FIND DIRECTOR DEAD ON MOUNT VESUVIUS

Head of Vesuvius Observatory Cremated When Residence Catches Fire and Burns.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Naples, Italy, March 19.—Prof. Giuseppe Mercalli, director of the observatory on Mt. Vesuvius, was found burned to death early today in his bedroom. The professor, who also occupied the chair of seismology at the University of Naples, retired to sleep at his usual hour. The cause of the fire is not known.

HAS NARROW ESCAPE IN MILWAUKEE FIRE

CHARLES BROWN, FORMERLY OF JANESVILLE, AMONG GUESTS AT WINDSOR HOTEL.

HEAVY PROPERTY LOSS

Early Morning Blaze Destroys $200,000 Worth of Property in Heart of Business District.

Charles Brown, a former Janesville man, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence R. Brown, 114 Glen street, was among the forty or more guests who escaped in their night clothing early today, when fire broke out in the Windsor hotel in Milwaukee. Brown notified his parents by telephone this morning that he was roused from his bed when the flames broke out and was able to save nothing more than his underclothes and shoes.
Brown is employed in a Milwaukee wholesale fruit house and has lived at the Windsor for several years.

Milwaukee, March 19.—Guests of the Windsor Hotel numbering nearly thirty were compelled to flee for their lives early today when a fire which broke out in the plant of the Western Newspaper Union, located in the south side of the city, spread to the hotel. The hotel, located on the corner of Wisconsin and Michigan streets, between Michigan and Wisconsin streets, gutted the four story structure and caused damage to other adjoining property. Charles Brown, son of the hotel, declared his belief early this morning that every guest of the hotel had got out safely. The property loss is estimated at $200,000, partly covered by insurance.

NEWSPAPER PLANT DAMAGED

The job department of the Evening Wisconsin, one of Milwaukee's oldest newspapers, was considerably damaged by smoke and water and the basement containing the newspaper press was flooded with several feet of water.

A fire wall separating the upper floors of the Evening Wisconsin building from the hotel structure probably saved the newspaper plant from total destruction.
The Western Newspaper Union's loss is estimated at $40,000, and that of the Milwaukee printing roller company at $10,000. The hotel, the hotel building is placed at $40,000. Other losses in the way of smoke and water sustained by the Standard Blank Book Mfg. Company, The Milwaukee Novelty Dye Works, and the warehouse of the P. A. Chapman Dry Goods Company together with the hotel contents bring the aggregate up to the total.

HOTEL GUESTS IN PANIC

Breaking out in the stillness of the morning the fire caused a panic among the hotel guests.
Waking from sleep by the cracking of the window pane, Louis Toby, sleeping in the second floor of the building, shouted "Fire."
A few minutes before, the proprietor, Charles Sandberg, and Ellen Polnow, awakened by the barking of a little fox terrier, smelled smoke. They rushed to the door, but found no trace of fire. Hardly five minutes later the building was a mass of flames.

Guests were scurrying for safety clad only in night attire. The barking of the dog was followed by the beating on the doors by policemen and the hotel owner. To the fourth floor they went, smashing in doors where the guests failed to answer the heavy beating.

HELL DOES NOT LIVE ARE LOST

"Hell does not live are lost," said Patrolman Wilke after emerging from his mission of awakening the guests. "I pounded on a door and an answer came. I saw a sheet of flames jumped into my face. The mattresses and beds were burning. I tried another and met the same thing. The guests had evidently all awakened and managed to get out. I don't believe there was anybody left on the floor."

The building, about thirty years old, thoroughly seasoned, burned like tinder.
A general alarm brought many companies of fire apparatus and numerous streams from hydrants within the block aided by floods of water pumps from the river by fire tugs through the streets. The fire was extinguished by the time the flames to the hotel structure.

HOME RULE LEADERS MAY ARREST CARSON

Rumored That Warrants Have Been Issued in London for Leader of Ulster Cause.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

London, March 19.—The Globe today says that warrants have been signed for the arrest of Sir Edward Carson and other leaders of the Ulster unionists.
Sir Edward Carson, who formerly was conservative solicitor general, always has been one of the most ardent exponents of home rule for Ireland. On several occasions he has stated that the people of Ulster would refuse to recognize a parliament in Dublin. In September last year in the course of a speech to the "Ulster volunteers" he said:
"We have the pledges of some of the greatest generals in the British army that they will come over and help us keep the old flag when the time comes."
In September, 1912, he was the first to put his signature to the covenant entered into by the Ulster men which binds them "to use all the means that may be found necessary to defend the Ulster unionist cause."
Sir Edward has been the central figure in the house of commons and in the country in the campaign against home rule. He declared in December last year at Nottingham that the Ulster "volunteers" numbered 90,000 men and were well trained and armed. It was officially declared that there was no truth in the statements made today by the Globe that warrants have been signed for the arrest of Sir Edward Carson and other unionist leaders.

CONSUMERS BENEFIT BY WISCONSIN WAR AGAINST POOR FOOD

Commissioner Lauds Fight on Adulteration at Round-up Meeting of Farmers' Institutes.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., March 19.—"The state of Wisconsin by the work of the dairy and food commission in ridding the state of adulterated and misbranded foods of all kinds has not only conserved the public health but has resulted in an annual financial saving of not less than $6,000,000."
This summarizing statement of the work of the state dairy and food department was made in an address at Ellsworth, Wisconsin, today by E. L. Aderhold, assistant dairy and food commissioner, at the round-up meeting of the farmers' institutes.

Days of Adulteration.
He opened his address by quoting the early records of the department which showed that in the early light of the state's dairy and food products "coffee beans were made out of rice paste, creased and colored to look like the real thing; flour was adulterated with white earth; butter was made of brown sugar and a head of salt; milk was mixed with glucose and sausage was made out of stale meat unfit for human use."
The establishment of the dairy and food commission and the enactment of stringent laws against adulteration had changed conditions. Mr. Aderhold declared that "salts of copper, lead and decayed substances had been eliminated from canned goods, red lead no longer an ingredient of cayenne pepper, glucose flavored with artificial essences, dyed with artificial colors and containing chemical preservatives no longer masquerade in the garb of jams, jellies and preserves and borax, salicylic acid and formaldehyde are no longer milk adulterants."

Help Dairy Interests.

"That all this vigorous work of the dairy and food department has had an appreciable effect upon the public health is supported by the report of the United States government that Wisconsin ranks second among the states in health," said Mr. Aderhold. "Mr. Aderhold quoted from long statistical tables to show that as the result of stringent creamery regulations, patrons of Wisconsin creameries during the year 1913 received several years' worth of pure milk. The average amount of butterfat in the cream during each month of the year than did the patrons of creameries of any of the neighboring states. He said that in the matter of cheese Wisconsin ranked second among the states. His computations showed that "based upon reliable data over $12,000,000 were saved to the users of linseed oil in this state by preventing the sale of linseed oil adulterated with mineral oil." He said the damage to buildings had adulterated oil been permitted would have exceeded the above sum many times. He dwelt at length upon the effect through the state of requiring honest weights and measures. He declared that the per capita cost of the department was less than two cents. He said the health of every man, woman and child in the state.

Collect $11,000 Fines.

"The amount of fines imposed in prosecutions brought by the dairy and food department in the year 1913 was more than $11,000," concluded Mr. Aderhold. "These fines are required by law to be paid into the state treasury and are a part of the state school fund. They amounted to more than one-fourth of the cost of the dairy and food commission for the year, exclusive of the weights and measures department. He considered from the standpoint of public health or from the standpoint of dollars and cents, it is apparent that the state's investment in the dairy and food department is a trifling one compared to the state amounts vastly in excess of all costs."

THIEF ROBS CLERK ESCAPING IN AUTO

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Detroit, March 19.—An armed clerk held up W. H. Burns, night clerk in the office of the Hotel Metropolitan, nearly opposite the city hall, early today and compelled him to hand over $350 in cash. The robber then leaped into a waiting limousine, pressed a revolver against the head of the driver and ordered him to speed toward the suburbs. He said as he left the auto "I just missed a $5000 job in Chicago but this will help to make up for it."

COLORADO COUPLE WILL SPEND THEIR HONEYMOON STUDYING IN COLLEGE

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

St. Collins, Colo., March 19.—An extended honeymoon at the State Agricultural college here, with the prospect of jointly managing the affairs of a big ranch is the lot of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Reed, a young couple who, a year ago engaged in a romantic marriage which came so unexpectedly that the bride was scarcely married. Shortly after the couple married, their parents decided to send them both to the agricultural school. There the bridegroom is studying scientific farming, all its branches, and his bride takes up the domestic science end of agricultural management. It is understood that Reed's parents intend to place the couple on a large ranch near here when their course is finished.

ROYAL NEIGHBORS ELECT MRS. CHILDS OF HANOVER TO POSITION OF ORACLE

Green Bay, Wis., March 19.—Mrs. Eva Childs, Hanover, Wisconsin, was re-elected state oracle of the Royal Neighbors of America, at its convention here Wednesday. Other state officers re-elected were: Vice-oracle, Mrs. Mabel Drake, Albion, Wisconsin, and recorder, Mrs. Dora Fullerton, Milwaukee.

HUERTA MAKES BOTCH OF DICTATOR'S JOB

MEXICANS BEGIN TO REALIZE STATESMANSHIP OF DEPOSED PORFIRIO DIAZ.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

COUNTRY FACES RUIN

With Credit Gone, Lands Laid Waste and Industry Dead, Mexicans Are Sighing for Days of Former Dictator.

Mexico City, March 19.—The failure of Huerta to restore peace and good government to Mexico has convinced the better citizens of the republic that former President Diaz, after all, was the man to rule the country. Many regard him now as the greatest statesman Mexico ever had. Even if it is admitted, for the sake of argument, that Diaz was a failure, that he allowed the poor to be oppressed, that he permitted the country to be preyed upon by the thieves and scoundrels, that he did not do enough for the uplifting of his people, still, his long rule of 36 years—admitting all this—Diaz did give the country a generation of absolute peace.
He compelled the people—much against their will—to behave themselves. During practically all the years of the Diaz regime revolutions were very unpopular in Mexico.
When three years ago he stepped down and out railway communication was safe and uninterrupted in almost every section of the republic. Trains were running directly and without interference from the capital to the United States border by way of El Paso, Laredo and Eagle Pass. Telegraphic and postal communication was constant into all save a few remote districts. Mails arrived from and departed to the United States daily. Government revenues were but little below normal. The National Railways were in receipt of revenues in excess of expenses. Taxes were not burdensome. Business was good far better than it would have been in the United States under similar circumstances. The interest of the national debt was being paid regularly. Mexico's credit was still good in the foreign money markets. An almost unlimited amount of money had been borrowed by the treasury.
Huerta Proves Failure.
These conditions prevailed during the Huerta regime, which ended fourteen months ago. Since then, order and bring back prosperity to the country. This is how he has succeeded. Zafra is still raiding and ravaging. Three-fourths of the country north of a line drawn from Tampico across to the west coast either is in the hands of the rebels.

POPE'S NAME DAY IS FITTINGLY OBSERVED

His Holiness—Receives Many Calters and Numerous Congratulatory Messages.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Rome, March 19.—"This is a salute for my name day," declared Pope Pius when he was awakened early today by a series of explosions caused by vivid flashes of lightning and loud peals of thunder.
His holiness shortly afterwards celebrated mass in the presence of several specially invited guests, including his sisters and nieces. After the mass his two sisters, who reside in Rome, and his niece, Senatoria Tarolain, daughter of another sister, were received by the Pope in his private apartments, where they stayed to breakfast.
The audiences then began and a fatiguing day's work for the pontiff ensued, although every function was put out as far as possible. He had already received the congratulations of the sacred college yesterday, but a few of the cardinals returned to renew them today. He greeted also the members of his household and received a delegation from the Club of St. Peter, which presented him with a basket of fruit and flowers, the traditional gift on this occasion. All the corps of guards celebrated the occasion in some way—either by illuminating their quarters or giving a display of fireworks. During the changing of the guard the bands played and the various companies were unfurled. Hundreds of telegrams and addresses of congratulation were received at the Vatican from all parts of the world, many of them coming from the United States. The Pope dictated the replies in several cases personally. His Holiness appeared to be in excellent spirits.

ACID KILLS BABY; MOTHER MAY LIVE

Appleton Woman Who Poisons Children Rather Than Be Separated From Them, May Recover.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Appleton, March 19.—Harvey DeShaney, four months old, who was yesterday given carbolic acid by his mother, Mrs. Emma DeShaney, 39, died at St. Elizabeth's hospital at seven o'clock this morning.
Orville, two year old son, who was also given poison, will recover, and physicians think Mrs. DeShaney has chances for recovery.
Assistant District Attorney Frank Grogan, who saw the woman at the hospital this morning, thinks it is a case for the asylum and not for the state prison if she lives.
The baby, born eight months after the father's death, was terribly buried in the mouth and exterior of the cheek when the acid was spilled.

COMMON LAW MARRIAGE SIGNED AT APPLETON

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Appleton, March 19.—The first common law marriage in Outagamie county since the eugenic law went into effect occurred yesterday when Bert Smith and Emma Richardson, both of Nash, applied to a period of 24 hours to execute the contract. He referred them to an attorney and at noon they were made man and wife without a marriage license.

SLAYING OF EDITOR BY CABINET MEMBER'S WIFE BRINGS TO FRANCE CRISIS LIKE THAT CAUSED BY DREYFUS AFFAIR

Gaston Calmette and Mme. Caillaux (top); Joseph Caillaux.

As a result of the shooting of Gaston Calmette, editor of the Paris Figaro, by Mme. Caillaux, the wife of the minister of finance, the French nation faces a crisis almost as grave as that caused by the Dreyfus affair. Throughout the republic the indignant cry is going up that the tragedy is the outgrowth of the morals of the upper classes of the French capital. The affair is proving a great boon to the anti-republican party, and again Royalist mobs in Paris are shouting: "Down with the republic! Long live the king!"
Mme. Caillaux's act, which she at first declared was prompted by a desire to shield her husband's political reputation, it now develops was dictated by other motives. A woman of great beauty is said to have stood between Caillaux and the murdered editor. It is declared that this explains the relentless attacks the Figaro made against the finance minister.

TO TRY MUSIC CURE ON INSANE PATIENTS

Kankakee, Ill., March 19.—Music as a cure for insanity is to be given a more extended test in the eastern Illinois state hospital for the insane here than has ever before been attempted in the institutions of the state. The plan is an advance on previous music cures in which the patients are merely listeners. It is intended that the patients themselves shall be the musicians.

As a beginning Dr. P. M. Kelly, superintendent of the hospital, completed arrangements today for installing a concert piano in the men's ward. The instrument has been given by Chicago philanthropists interested in the attempt to aid the insane to recover themselves through music.

Patients who know how to play will be urged to make use of the piano. Instruction and coaching in music will be given and patients who are capable of it will be encouraged to undertake the teaching of less advanced students.

If the musical plan meets with success they will not stop with the piano, but the hospital musical organization may grow into an orchestra or orchestra of musical tastes gratified and at the same time feel a sense of participation in the production.

The music cure will be started under the direction of Dr. T. Rooks, who has immediate charge of the men's ward.

BALL PLAYER'S STATUES ARE URGED TO CULTURE OVER ANCIENT ATHLETES

Cleveland, March 19.—Immortalization of modern sports to replace the time-worn Greek discus thrower and Olympic champion of centuries past is the object of Miss Anna Flenniger, Cleveland sculptress, who today was putting the finishing touches on a marble bust of Johnny Kilbane, baseball player.

Flenniger today in her little ivory-covered Detroit studio, "Athletes, ball-players, prize fighters living men of today are more appreciated as models for sculpture than the general run of people. Maximo Castillo, the Mexican bandit charged with the Cumbre tunnel disaster, is still being held by the U. S. authorities at Fort Bliss, Tex.

line into old Mexico, visiting Juarez, the scene of so many of the conflicts between rebels and federalists, and also visited the great concentration camp of the Mexican federalists at Ft. Bliss, gives an interesting account of his trip.

"About the first of the month," said Mr. Bear in talking of his experience down in and around Mexico, "I left here to go down to Cambray, New Mexico to see my father, who is down there now. I went by way of the Santa Fe railroad to El Paso, and felt that while I was there, I would like to look over the grounds. Fortunately, I fell in with a newspaper man from Oklahoma City, who was going down to Mexico to get material for a story for the paper he was working for. I arrived at El Paso on Thursday the fifth of March, and the first day I was there, I went to the horse races at Juarez. If anyone goes over there from the American side, he is not molested unless he begins to poke around and act suspicious. While I was there a man from Las Cruces, New Mexico, was thrown into jail for walking around the streets. The Mexicans accused him of being a spy, but he got in touch with a newspaper in El Paso and through their influence was released. The most noticeable condition of things in Juarez, was the way in which public buildings were shot up. It looked as though the rebels had done nothing but aim their guns at the public buildings when they first entered the city, for homes and private buildings were untouched. Great notches were cut in some of the buildings, while others were almost completely demolished. The post office was badly wrecked. The roof was torn off and the windows burned out.

"Among the soldiers of Villa's army there is little discipline, except such as is enforced by the fear of execution. While I was there, the soldiers seemed to be in a very bad mood. They were armed aimlessly about the streets of Juarez with their rifles on their shoulders and seemed to be looking for an opportunity to start a fight with someone. They are a hot-blooded race and use their knives as freely as ordinary ruffians would use their fists.

"The races were interesting and we came back to El Paso on the night without having any exciting experiences. Our real interest was centered in the refugee camps at Fort Bliss, which is just over the hill from El Paso. There are 5,000 Mexicans enclosed within a wicker wire enclosure made of 87,000 running feet of woven wire as high as four feet. Stations at intervals around the outside of this are American soldiers who keep continual watch of the Mexicans on the inside.

"I stopped at the main gate just outside the enclosure and talked with the guard stationed there. The news paper man was there for the purpose of getting information and was not backward in asking questions. The guard told us that the sanitary conditions had been improved so that the little sickness prevailed among the refugees. At first there were a large number of cases of smallpox and a few died as a result, but lately they had been enjoying good health. They are kept from becoming too restless by having to work unloading trains of provisions and by playing games. We could see them playing baseball while we were there. Sometimes they get into altercations and cut each other up pretty badly. Then the soldiers are forced to look them up in a smaller wire enclosure near the gate around which the soldiers keep a constant watch.

cooking. When they were first brought into the place, many of them were nearly destitute. The guard told us of how the people of El Paso sent one of the ambulance wagons full of old clothing to them. Two Mexican women got ahold of the same dress and started to fight over it. When they finished, each was wearing half of it. The others jumped on the man who was attempting to distribute the clothing and all of them had a free-for-all fight. Through the fight, many of them would look at you without seeming to see you. All of them had a far-away look. We did not go inside the enclosure, but could see the refugees inside a little looking bunch.

"While I was in El Paso, I had an interesting talk with J. C. Wilmarth, formerly one of the proprietors of the Janesville Gazette, and now one of the owners of the El Paso Herald. He said that the sentiment that prevailed down there is that the United States is doing right in letting the Mexicans fight it out among themselves. The people feel that an American is worth about a regiment of Mexican rebels, but that the Americans are too valuable to be killed. Many of the rich Mexican gentlemen are bringing their money to El Paso and depositing it in banks there in order to protect it from both parties in Mexico.

All of the traffic between El Paso and Mexico has practically ceased, as far as business relations go. Of course Villa continues to obtain provisions, but that does not improve the condition of business in El Paso. As I was in and around El Paso, I saw a number of Mexicans spent across the river in Juarez. I did not see as conditions were much different as regards the war than they are up here. There appears to be no more excitement, and people do not discuss the war a great deal more than they do here. In fact the horse races seemed to be a greater topic of conversation while I was there than the war.

"When I got over to Cambray, I found my father enjoying the climate and in good health. He likes it down there except for its lack of vegetation. For myself I was glad to get back to Wisconsin, where the climate may not be so good, but where something grows besides cactus and heather."

GIVES DESCRIPTION OF MONTANA LANDS

Former Gazette Correspondent and Resident of Milton Junction Tells Interesting Story.

A letter written to the Gazette by Mrs. E. D. Coon, a former resident of Milton Junction, and Gazette correspondent from West Linn, tells an interesting story of a few happenings in the state of Montana at the present time. Mrs. Coon recently moved to Westmore, Montana. The interesting facts are given as follows:

"We had a beautiful winter here with some snow. It has only been below zero two or three days. Snow is all gone and farmers are dragging and getting ready for spring work. Quite a good deal of wheat and other small grain is raised here, but farmers are trying to get to raising stock and milch cows. The latter bring sixty to seventy-five dollars a piece. You can't buy a calf here for what a cow brings in Wisconsin. This is a natural stock country and sheep raising was at one time the main business. Quite a number of range horses are seen, but a good broken team here costs three to four hundred dollars. The Red Arrow, a passenger and railroad comes within six miles of us and we see the smoke from the engines several times a day. Neighbors are rather scarce here as most of them have farms of 320 acres, so we do not see very many together. Fuel costs us nothing, but for hauling coal is abundant. We have wood along the creek on our claim. I like the climate here very much, but miss the dear old Wisconsin people and church and society privileges.

TAX RETURNS MADE BY MUENCHOW TODAY

Only Small Amount of City's Levy Unpaid When Books Are Turned Over—Income Tax Paid.

City Treasurer George Muenchow, after closing the city's tax books, turned over the account to the county treasurer this morning, and of the cash collected, amounts due to city, county and state accounted. The total budget for Janesville was $243,137.03 and the city's share amounted to $37,722.97, nearly all of which has been collected. When returns were made, the delinquent taxes were deducted by the city, as the amounts will be collected by the county. In the real estate tax, the amount not collected and delinquent amounted to $3,787.56, which is considerably less than previous years. Only $575.05 was not collected in income taxes and the greater number of cases where taxes have been charged to the people because no returns were made of the blanks of the tax collector and they are on the delinquent list with their estimated income and penalty. The total cash collected by the city treasurer or incomes was $14,141.34, of which the city will receive $1,000.00, $9,898.94 and the state and county receiving thirty per cent or $4,242.40.

ATTEND STYLE SHOW AT CHICAGO STORES

Instructors in Sewing and Dressmaking at Evening School Study Latest Fashions.

Instructors in dressmaking and sewing in the evening industrial school are spending the week in Chicago where they are attending the spring styles shows and exhibits of spring fashions at the retail and wholesale stores. On account of the absence of the ladies there were no classes in their department of the evening school work this week. The class of twenty-five young women in millinery under the direction of Miss Maude Inman will continue their work for four or five weeks and another class which will study the new spring models will be organized with Miss Margaret Pahlow as instructor.

To Give Entertainment: The Milton College Glee club will be in Janesville on next Wednesday afternoon for a few hours, giving their concert to the student body at the high school.

School Board Meets: A special meeting of the school commissioners was called for four-thirty o'clock this afternoon at which final action will be taken on the investigation into the conduct of students who attended the Beloit tournament.

BUFFALO PUBLISHER LEAVES MISS REDDY A SUBSTANTIAL SUM

Will of Late Edward H. Butler Makes Generous Provision for Janesville Cousin.

Miss Cornelia V. Reddy, 317 Madison street, is beneficiaries the sum of $5,000 and $25 weekly during her entire lifetime by the will of the late Edward H. Butler, proprietor of the Buffalo Evening News, according to advice received in Janesville today. This is the largest bequest made to any individual other than immediate relatives. Miss Reddy and Mr. Butler were cousins. He has visited in Janesville on several occasions.

Included in his bequests is a $7,000 investment of a residence at a place near Wilkes-Barre, Pa., where Mr. Butler was buried a week ago.

Mr. Butler was prominent in politics and city affairs. In 1901 he was mentioned as the successor to United States Senator Thomas C. Platt of New York, and when he was suggested as mayor of Buffalo every newspaper in the city favored his nomination. He has been in the newspaper business since he was 21 years of age.

REACH SETTLEMENT IN LAST JURY CASE

Action For Damages Against Interurban For Death of Young Rockton Farmer Settled Out of Court.

Through the efforts of Judge Grimm and the attorneys for the opposing parties in the case of H. C. Mathews, administrator, against the Rockford and Interurban Co., a settlement was reached before court was called this morning and the last jury case on the March calendar was disposed of. The suit was brought to recover damages for the death of Lloyd Mathews, seven-year-old son of a farmer, who lost his life when the rig he was driving was struck by an interurban car on a grade crossing near Rockton early last fall. Judge Grimm dismissed the Rockford suit on the motion of the twelve men who will sit on the Bass Creek drainage case on March 28.

ATHENA CLASS HELD MEETING ON WEDNESDAY AT THE LIBRARY HALL

The Athena class met at Library Hall on Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock. The program for the afternoon was "The Great Lake Country." Physical history of the lakes was discussed by Miss Kate Welch; Buffalo, The Eastern Terminus, by Mrs. A. C. Bates; Cleveland, The Gateway to Pittsburgh, by Elizabeth Patterson; Detroit Beautiful for Situation, by Mrs. W. W. Woolf; The Soo, Lake Superior and Its Scenery, by Mrs. C. D. Bates; The South and Superior Ore and Grain Shipments, given by Mrs. Lee Beers. Roll Call finished the work of the afternoon.

JACK REDMOND BATTLES NEW ORLEANS BOXER AT LA CROSSE CLUB TONIGHT

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] LaCrosse, Wis., March 19.—Fight fans here today were anxiously waiting the bout tonight between Jack Redmond of Milwaukee and Childs, a clever lightweight from New Orleans. They will go ten rounds before the LaCrosse Athletic club. Redmond has a knockout against Joe Welling, Eddie Moha and Rudy Unholz. He has also received a draw in a six round mixup with Ad Wolgast and has gone twenty rounds with Battling Nelson.

PHYSICIANS PUZZLED ON FINDING WOMAN'S HEART ON RIGHT SIDE

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Elkins, W. Va., March 19.—Is a person of reversed anatomy who uses the right hand as do other folks left handed? And if such a person gets appendicitis merely where the appendix ought to be, what has that person got?

These are but two of the questions puzzling West Virginia physicians since Mrs. Laura Cassel, of Widdell, W. Va., was operated on at the Davis Memorial Hospital here. Upon opening the surgeons failed to find an appendix. Examination then disclosed that the appendix was on the left side.

IF CONSTIPATED OR BILIOUS "CASCARETS"

For Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Sluggish Liver and Bowels—They work while you sleep.

Get a 10-cent box. Take a Cascaret tonight to cleanse your liver, Stomach and Bowels, and you will surely feel great by morning. You men and women who have headache, coated tongue, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous, upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach, or have backache and feel all worn out. Are you keeping your bowels clean with Cascarets—or merely forcing a passageway every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels. Remember, a Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning. A 10-cent box from your druggist means healthy bowel action, a clear head and cheerfulness for months. Don't forget the children.

FAULTY DIGESTION

Quickly Shatters the Nervous System—Immediate Action Necessary—Use Mio-na

When you feel irritable, tired and despondent; when you have nervous twitches, specks before the eyes, headaches, sour stomach, heartburn, bad taste in the mouth, and pains in the colon and bowels—you are suffering from indigestion the first step to chronic dyspepsia, which invariably wrecks the nervous system—you need Mio-na at once.

Mio-na is a specific for stomach weakness—it goes to the seat of your trouble and quickly ends stomach misery. It surely and safely builds up and strengthens the stomach walls and glands, quickly improves the digestive system—the vital force and nerve energy are restored, then you are in the best of spirits and enjoy perfect health.

Do not suffer another day. Get a fifty cent box of Mio-na Tablets from Smith Drug Co., or your nearest drug store—keep them with you constantly, for this treatment will help you get well and strong, and immediate relief is sure. Do not delay—delays are not only dangerous but needless. If not benefited Mio-na costs nothing.

and uninfected, that the heart was on the right side, the right lung where the left should be and vice-versa, and liver, kidneys and other organs still operative where they belonged. But he carried out her prime task with the right hand, it was noted, and hence the question: "Is she right-handed or left-handed?"

SEEKS TO ENLIST SCHOOLS TO FIGHT CHILD LABOR BY EMPLOYMENT SUPERVISION

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] New Orleans, March 18.—A proposal that the public school system should take upon itself the employment supervision of all working children up to eighteen years of age was made by Prof. Frank M. Leavitt, of the University of Chicago, before the National Child Labor Conference here tonight.

President of the National Vocational Guidance Association. He declared that hordes of children were still leaving school because of its un congenial and unsympathetic atmosphere.

Widespread improvement was being effected by vocational education, and some schools have undertaken some supervision of children after they enter the ranks of labor.

He declared that such supervision should be developed in every city and town and take in all working children up to eighteen years of age.

"The public school could not more effectively aid in the crusade against child labor than by promoting this function," he said.

WEATHER FORECAST.

In this vicinity the weather will continue fair and cool. Northerly winds will prevail.

A MARTIAN SPRING.

With the sudden change in temperature, the drop of the thermometer from the sunny, springlike days to the mid-winter weather, the north wind blowing, the question comes, are we, the people of the world, to be subjected to a Martian spring? It is a serious problem for scientists to solve. Moreover, the Milwaukee Evening Wisconsin tackles the subject bravely, quotes from the reports of scientists, and says the planet Mars is enjoying a cold spell of weather. The question is, does it affect the world? We might ask Dr. Wilby, but he is too busy commenting upon the food supply and so forth to give us a definite answer, so we must fall back upon the real problem: Does the climate on Mars affect the earth? We are a great big sort of a world all of our own. We have an immense and diversified population, so the Wisconsin story is plausible after all.

The Flagstaff, Arizona, observatory scientists, who are in closer touch with what is going on in the firmament than the inhabitants of smoky cities, have informed the world that a light spring frost has descended upon the planet Mars. That is their interpretation of the changing color of the neighboring planet. Often the hues which the telescope reveals on the Martian disk are salmon, pink and green, with areas of white at the poles, which always have been accounted for on the supposition that Mars, like the earth, has polar regions covered with thick-ribbed ice and never-melting snow. When the area of white expands, as it sometimes does, the assumption logical that boreal conditions are pushing into one or the other of the temperate zones, and this, apparently, is what is going on at the present time.

"Professor Lowell is convinced that Mars is inhabited, and that certain lines observable on the planet are canals constructed for the purpose of irrigation, and that the green color often distinctly discernible in their vicinity demonstrates that they are efficient in the promotion of agriculture. There are other speculative scientists who dispute his views, yet these views are decidedly popular. Not a few among the American news-readers, reading public who rarely look through telescopes, but who like to give their imagination play, indulge at times in the wonder whether it may not be possible with the progress of science to establish communication between this world and the next; at least to the extent of signalling the inhabitants of Mars and getting a response. Mars is a world in the sense of being a planet, and is the earth's next-door neighbor in the direction outward from the sun, the mean distance of the earth from the sun being ninety-two million miles, and the distance of Mars one hundred and forty-one million miles. The notion of communicating with Mars is fascinating to theorists, who, now that electric cable and wireless have made it possible to send instant messages to all parts of the earth, are seeking for new worlds to conquer.

"But there is a difficulty in the way of signalling Mars and securing an intelligible response—a difficulty which seems insuperable. Let it be conceded that Mars is inhabited by intelligent beings and that by means of electric flashlight on a tremendous scale Professor Lowell and his assistants at Flagstaff could attract their attention. At this point the trouble would begin, for how could the Martians interpret the earth signals, or we theirs? Without a common language, how could there be interchange of ideas?

"Mars being older than the earth, it is supposable that if there are inhabitants of Mars and they are like the earth people they have solved many problems which are still in the boisterous stage with us. In view of the cold weather there at the present time, we might ask them how they manage to prevent the coal barons from owning their planet; but they might suppose we were signalling to learn the outlook as to their spring elections.

"Archaeology has endeavored in vain to decipher the inscriptions found in the ruins of Yucatan. They are in a language which seems to have perished from the earth. For a long time the hieroglyphics of Egypt were undecipherable to even the most learned and ingenious of modern scholars, and they would have remained so but for the discovery of the Rosetta stone. That contained the same inscription in three languages, two of which were understood, and the third of which was the language of ancient Egypt. It served as a key to unlock a literature which otherwise might have remained forever sealed.

"Science performs many wonders, but there are gulfs it cannot bridge, and one of them is that which prevents the people of the earth from carrying on communication with Mars."

The Park Association track is going to be crowded with horsemen seeking to take advantage of the excellent facilities offered by the local track for training quarters. There need be no fear but that the coming program for the August fair will not have the best field of horses that will start in Wisconsin this season. The cream of the racers will be on hand.

So a great revolution has been averted by the timely action of a spy who secured the secrets of the great army of the unemployed who are assembled on the Pacific coast and planned to rob the Rock Island arsenal of the rifles and ammunition, and then conquer Washington.

It would seem as though McGovern and Aylward and the rest of the would-be aspirants for office are somewhat evading the corrupt practice act by failing to file their expense accounts with the secretary of state as prescribed by law enacted by the reformers whose sentiments they voice. Think it over.

Credit is due the management of the mid-winter fair for their work in that direction. It was an unqualified success, now that it is all over, and everything considered, Janesville and the Commercial club can well feel proud of its efforts.

This making Janesville a city beautiful should appeal to many. No one appreciates what it means to a city to have the reputation of being one of the cleanest cities in the state when talking to outside industries.

William Sulzer is following up the trail of Charles F. Murphy like a dutiful Nemesis garbed in a hobbie skirt and calls him most discreetly a "liar." Why does not William try new tactics? His present ones are not really dignified.

Spring might try to flirt a trifle more profusely than she has if we really are to believe that she is coming at all. Officially she is due next Saturday, but one can never tell what will happen.

Thus far the Chicago women police have not made a huge success in dealing with the Chicago women waitress strike. Perhaps they would do better if they had to deal with a real labor riot like the Haymarket?

Possibly King George would advocate the enfranchisement of women in England, if Queen Mary would let him. Here is where the suffragists have run against a real snag—Queen Mary.

Have you decided who will be your candidate for commissioner, yet? If not, best, make up your mind for the primary is Tuesday next, and the election is but a few weeks away.

It is reported that some of the United States senators have been suffering from the mumps. This shows that the punishment really fits the crime, sometimes.

This woman robber that infests the larger cities is not such a new thing after all. There is Harry Lauder, who wears kilts and lots of others. Count them up.

It is to be hoped that the Mexican stew will soon be set on the back of the stove to at least simmer if not cool off entirely. Really it is getting tiresome.

Politics are going to be one of the fashionable pastimes this year. That is, politics which seek to bring about the reduction of taxes.

On the Spur of the Moment

The Old Timer.
Perhaps I have done many, many things
Which to my friends have brought the blush of shame,
The years you know have gone on
Reeling wings,
I've made mistakes as I've played
In life's game,
Mistakes of head, not heart, they've Always been,
But still, you know, in spite of all
My faults,
My friends must give me credit now,
I ween,
I've never danced the hesitation waltz.

I've done a lot of things no man should do,
I'm very sure of that, dear friends
Of mine,
I've cursed and chawed tobacco
Quite a few,
And once or twice I've tampered
With the wine,
I've gone to burlesque shows in Years gone by,
And watched the chorus cavort and sing,
But still you owe me credit because I
Have never danced that low-browed tango thing.

Feeding the Cat.
Old "Dad" Reynolds of Paw Paw, Mich., relates the following:
"I was cummin' by old Sam Jenkins' over on the north branch the other day and see ol' Cam cummin' out of the barn with a male in one hand and a klubb in the other. He had a damp and dejected appearance, his nuckles wuz skinned and he hed a mask uv milk slowly runnin' od his face and his expression wuz dangerous. I ast him what the matter wuz. After swallerin' sum uv the milk and spittin' out a tooth, he sez: 'I've ben tryin' to learn a kaf to drink and, God blink him, I'll learn him or kill him.'
"You see, the ol' woman generally feeds the kavs, but sed I cud do it. She sed just put mi fingers in his mouth, lore his hed into the milk and that wuz all; but it wazent all at a dum site. I put mi fingers in his mouth, jamed his hed into the pale, when he hit mi fingers, jumped sideways, stept on a soft corn and the trouble commenced. I kicked him in the ribs with a rubber boot and broke a toe, then I belid his hed in the pale fur about a minit. He seemed quiet, but there's where I wuz fooled. He'd jest ben absorbin' milk. He jerked his hed out, uv the pale and exhaled about two quarts uv milk inter mi face. I got mad, grabbed him, and loosed uv him."

ribs a spell," then I got straddle uv him, took him bi the ears and jabbed his hed inter the pale. He humped up like broke, thrde me over his hed spilt what milk there wuz left all over me and then looked at me jest as cam and peaceful as tho' he hadent dun anything. Gosh dum him!"

Uncle Abner.
It is getting so that egg sandwiches all taste about the same. At least that is what a millionaire said the other day.

Lem Higgins is enjoying his automobile while he can. As soon as his tires wear out he has got to sell his car for he will never be able to save up enough to get a new set.

It begins to look as though the turn-down collar has come to stay. Everything has a mission in this world. Grandpoo Bibbins has got a large wart on the end of his nose, but he says it is the most useful thing he has got. It keeps his spectacles from slipping off in his soup when he is eating.

Deacon Dringle took his first wife's teeth to Doc Hanks, our dentist, yesterday and wanted them made over for his second wife.

Afterthoughts.
Toledo saloons will sell no man more than four drinks a day, but there are enough saloons so that every Toledo man can get his three or four hundred drinks without any trouble.

If Huerat ever does get sober, he probably will wonder why he has been hanging onto the presidency of Mexico when he might be in vaudeville making good money.

Captain Inch of the Volturmo has been presented with a key London. This is a fine reward, but he couldn't get $2 on it at a pawnshop. New York Herald repeats the old axiom: "Chickens will come home to roost." And there are lots of chickens in New York.

HUERTA MAKES BIG BOTCH OF DICTATOR'S JOB

or is only nominally held by the federalists. The area of revolution has increased five hundred fold. Where in February, 1913, there were ten men in arms against Madero, there are now a thousand fighting Huerta. Durango, Chihuahua, Tlaxcala, Coahuila, Nuevo Leon, and other important cities and towns are in possession of the rebels. Scores of other places of lesser degree are garrisoned by them. Torreon, yielded by the federal garrison after a fight that would have made two hair-pulling washerwomen ashamed of themselves, was retaken by 3,000 federalists with a great failure of triumphs after the rebels had marched out without firing a shot. Also Mazatlan finally has surrendered.

A Demoralized Country.
About 60 per cent of the mileage of the National Railways is out of commission. There has been no rail communication between here and the border for almost a year. Postal and telegraphic communication with many parts of the country has been altogether abandoned or is intermittent. One mail arrives from and departs for the United States each week and that by water. Government revenues have shrunk about 50 per cent. The National lines, such of them as are still in operation, are being run at a tremendous monthly loss and the system is on the verge of bankruptcy. Taxes have been increased 50 per cent, 60 per cent and in many instances, doubled. In the part of the republic where Huerta's authority still extends those who pay taxes—and it is an abjectly poor people who is not molested for a few centavos—are groaning under the oppressions of the tax gatherer and fearing worse extortions.

Business conditions are a hundred times worse than they were a year ago.

Exchange has risen from two to one to as high, recently, as three to one. The currency has been inflated to an extent which threatens, when the crash comes, to make paper bank notes almost worthless.

Financial Wreck.
Export taxes have been placed upon coffee, vanilla, live stock and various other products. Mexico cannot sell a bond today abroad except at a ruinous price. It even then, Huerta's minister of finance has just returned from abroad, where he vainly offered Mexican bonds in the markets of Paris, London and Berlin. None would buy. Huerta today says he has 35,000 soldiers in the field. Probably 75,000 would cover the actual strength of his army. There are military governors in all states.

Little is being done by any of the governmental departments except what is absolutely necessary. No constructive work is in progress either on governmental or private initiative. There is no congress, no senate, no chamber of deputies. Huerta dissolved congress when it refused to bend the knee as briskly and subserviently as he deemed proper.

That is the condition today. No wonder the better Mexicans are sighing for the return of the old man who gave Mexico generation of peace, but who is now a refugee in a foreign land.

Winter's Chills Breed Kidney Ills

Chilly, damp, changing weather is hard on the kidneys. Even more irritating are colds, grip, pneumonia, tonsillitis, quinsy and other infections. The kidneys get congested and inflamed, and this causes backache and disordered kidney action. Though serious in its latter stages, kidney disease is not hard to conquer if a good kidney remedy is used when the first signs of kidney trouble are noticed.

The best recommended kidney remedy in the world is Doan's Kidney Pills. You hear it everywhere. Get a box.

JANESVILLE PEOPLE TESTIFY

Mineral Point Avenue Lewis Gower, decorator, 1214 Mineral Point Ave., Janesville, says: "Handling paints and turpentine probably started my kidney trouble and I had severe attacks of pain through my loins. When I bent over I had trouble in straightening again. My kidneys acted irregularly. It is possible that riding a bicycle had something to do with bringing on the backache. It was Doan's Kidney Pills that cured me. Since then my kidneys have been strong and I haven't had any more pains or aches. I still use Doan's Kidney Pills once in awhile and they keep my kidneys in good shape."	Center Street Mrs. M. Smith, 921 Center St., Janesville, says: "I suffered severely at times from rheumatic pains and backache. My sides hurt me and sometimes my kidneys were sore. I noticed that my kidneys acted too freely. One of my neighbors told me to try Doan's Kidney Pills and I got a box at the People's Drug Co. As soon as I began using them I felt better and my kidneys were in much better shape. I recommend Doan's Kidney Pills just as highly now as I did three years ago when I told how much they did for me. I use Doan's Kidney Pills once in awhile and they live up to all the claims made for them."	North Chatham Street A. S. Wright, railroad engineer, 321 N. Chatham St., Janesville, says: "The jarring an engineer gets is mighty hard on his back and kidneys, so it's no wonder that I began to feel that something was wrong. My kidneys were out of order and acted irregularly. I had severe backache and pains across the small of my back. It hurt me to get up or down. Almost all railroad men know about Doan's Kidney Pills so, of course, I used some, too. In a short time Doan's Kidney Pills put a stop to all the aches and made my kidneys act as they should. I still use Doan's Kidney Pills once in awhile and they keep my kidneys in good shape."	Park Street Mrs. Nets Thompson, 222 Park St., Janesville, says: "My kidneys bothered me quite a bit by acting irregularly. I had bad attacks of backache. When I slept, I had sharp pains through my back. At other times there were dull, nagging pains in the small of my back. One of my acquaintances had used Doan's Kidney Pills, so I took them. They soon stopped the pain. I still take Doan's Kidney Pills once in awhile and they come up to my system. They have done so much for me that I want to let other kidney sufferers know about them."	McKee Boulevard F. C. Samuels, grocer, 983 McKee Blvd., Janesville, says: "I know from personal experience that Doan's Kidney Pills are all right. My kidneys didn't act as they should and I had backache and pains across my loins. I used two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills and was relieved. Since then I haven't had any more backache and my kidneys have been doing their work. I think just as highly of Doan's Kidney Pills now as I did a few years ago when I recommended them. I haven't had any need of a kidney medicine since Doan's Kidney Pills cured me."	Riverside Street Mrs. Emilie Hell, 266 Riverside St., Janesville, says: "I suffered terribly from pains through the small of my back for months. I had severe pains in my head and my kidneys didn't act regularly. I was feeling miserable when someone told me to get Doan's Kidney Pills. I got a supply at the People's Drug Co. and I used two or three boxes. They made me well again. I still take Doan's Kidney Pills once in awhile and they keep me in good shape. You may continue to use the recommendation I have given Doan's Kidney Pills before."

"PEG O' MY HEART."
 "Peg O' My Heart," the comedy sensation which has charmed theatre-goers for over a year at the Cort Theatre, New York, with Laurette Taylor in the star part, will play at the Myers Theatre Thursday, March 19, with dainty Florence Martin in the role of "Peg," J. Hartley Manners' delightful creation. The story deals with the adventures of a pretty Irish girl who has been brought up in an atmosphere of poverty by a talented but improvident father, and is suddenly transplanted to an atmosphere of ease and luxury in the midst of an aristocratic English family. Unknown to her, a clause in her uncle's will which has made her an heiress, also pays her distant relatives for receiving her, and they naturally resent, though they endure, her presence. Among her many adventures which include the rescuing of the girl of the family from a disastrous love affair, she encounters her own little love affair, which weaves a golden thread of romance through the story. Oliver Morosco has supplied an adequate production and an excellent cast including Isabel Vernon, Colin Campbell, Maude Allen, Fred L. Tidem, Nella Horan, Poll Trenton, Reginald Carington, John Lyons, etc.

AT THE APOLLO.
 "The Candy Store Girls" is the feature offering at the Apollo for the balance of the week. This is a musical comedy with a cast of seven people and special scenery. It is heralded as a clever little sketch full of lively fun, a blending of sweethearts and sweetness.

In addition is offered Toiki Murata in Japanese pastimes, and Nina Stralle, dramatic soprano.

Exclusive Women's Apparel

This store owes its success as the center of exclusive garments for women to the careful buying and selection of its stock.

A buyer cannot order everything that is offered and expect all select models. Exclusiveness needs careful cultivation—not alone that apparel may BE SO but to keep out the undesirables that fashion is so abundantly heir to.

This store is devoting its whole energy toward the end that only authentic modes may be displayed, protecting our customers against undesirable styles, and assuring them of the sole ownership of the style they choose. We buy from the best manufacturers of New York who adapt their styles from Paris models.

The area of high barometer that was in the northwest yesterday morning has moved southward over the Rockies and the Plains, pushing the barometric depression that occupied the southern Rockies southward and cutting it in two. The close association of these disturbances has intensified them, so that we find higher barometer on the northern Plains, and lower in Texas, and on the California coast than existed yesterday. Rain or snow has fallen quite generally in the Central and Northwestern states, where the atmospheric changes have been most marked, and the temperature has fallen on the northern Plains, and along the eastern front of the Rockies. The storm that was in the lower lake region has passed over New England, attended by snow and gales, and followed by zero temperatures in the upper lake region.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

THE CHEMISTRY OF LOVE.
TO KNOW the sort of person one ought to marry seems to be a very difficult task.

On the other hand, to know the sort of person one's friends ought to marry seems very simple to most people.

Two women were discussing the engagement of one of the young girls in our neighborhood.

"She's the very last person he ought to marry," said the first (queer when we do marry "the very last person" isn't it?).

"I know it," said the other, "he has such a quick, overbearing temper. He needs one of those patient, sweet tempered girls who will put up with him, and Mary isn't a bit that kind."

Now I happen to know Mary pretty well, and I also realize that she isn't of the patient Griselda type. And yet I venture to differ, and to think she may be exactly the kind of a girl Sidney needs. Sidney certainly has a quick, overbearing temper. Give him a meek, sweet tempered girl and he will grow moody and more overbearing. He will tyrannize over her just as he does over his meek and sweet tempered mother and sister.

Give him Mary and he'll be brought up short against her unwillingness to be tyrannized over. And after he has gone bump up against that blank wall a few times he will probably begin to learn to control himself and respect the rights of others.

Now won't that be better for him than to gradually develop for lack of opposition, into a household tyrant? The inter-development of character by marriage is a very wonderful thing. One of the reasons why it is so difficult to say that any two characters will make a marriage is that they will not remain the same after marriage is that they will react into two entirely different characters. And the chemistry of love is not yet a sufficiently exact science to predict what the reaction will produce.

When a serious man and a frivolous woman marry, people are always quick to say that the match will be a failure. And yet I know of one case of the kind in which the woman's frivolity was toned down and the man's seriousness was toned up by the reaction of characters, and the marriage was a signal success.

Again, some years ago when two extremely reckless and imprudent young people were married, everyone who knew them held up their hands and said, "What will become of them, they are both so heedless?" What happened was that the man's recklessness developed caution in the woman and they are now a fairly well balanced couple.

And so it goes.

Marriage is a strange and wonderful melting pot and until erotic chemistry become a more exact science, we might as well decide that it is almost as hard to pick the right person for our friends as for ourselves.

gives better results.
(2) No. (3) You are too young to think of them as lovers, my dear. There are lots of other things besides fellows for a girl to think of that are important. Can't you think of some of those things?

THE KITCHEN CABINET

INITIATIVE, the power to plan, create, accomplish, the one quality that takes the big prizes—what it is, however, and how shall one acquire it? First get the idea, then decide how to carry it out, and then—well, just do it—that's all.

SOME PUDDINGS.

Some of the old-fashioned puddings which were favorites of our grandmothers are being used today on our best tables.

The common bread pudding may be made into one of the most delectable of desserts, using coconut, other nuts, chocolate, orange rind, lemon rind and other things to vary the flavor. A very good pudding may be made of stale cake crumbs with some left-over canned fruit, put in layers and baked as one does Brown Betty.

Lemon Pudding.—Mix the yolks of four eggs with four tablespoons of sugar, the juice of a lemon and two tablespoons of water; cook in the double boiler until smooth and thick, stirring constantly. Fold in the whites when the cooked mixture is cool, to which has been added two tablespoons of sugar.

Carrot Pudding.—This is an old English recipe and can be changed to cup measure, if so desired. Mix together a half pound each of flour, seeded raisins, potatoes and carrot grated, suet chopped fine, one teaspoonful each of cinnamon, cloves and soda dissolved in a little water; then add a half cup of sugar, one teaspoonful of salt, one egg beaten. Turn into a well buttered mold after giving the mixture a thorough beating, and boil two hours or steam three. Serve with a hard sauce, made by creaming a third of a cup of butter, add two-thirds of a cup of powdered sugar and a teaspoonful of vanilla; fold in a half cup of whipped cream.

Cracker Pudding.—Moisten one and a half cups of cracker crumbs with boiling water; let stand until cool, then add one pint of milk, one-third of a cup of molasses, one egg slightly beaten, a cupful of raisins finely cut; put into a mold and steam four hours. Let stand in mold until cool. Serve with creamy sauce made by creaming half a cup of butter, adding a cup of powdered sugar, then a fourth of a cup of milk and two tablespoons of orange juice, with a little of the grated rind. Add the liquids slowly, to keep them from curdling. The hard sauce for the carrot pudding is good also for this.

Nettie Maxwell.
TREAT BABES AT BIRTH TO PREVENT BLINDNESS

An investigation conducted by Superintendent Hooper of the school for the blind has revealed the fact that twenty-five percent of the children under his care are blind because their eyes had not been properly treated in infancy. The state board of health is today sending out 3,000 packages of nitrate of silver to all physicians of the state in conformity with a law passed by the 1913 legislature which provides that the eyes of children at birth must be washed in this solution to prevent blindness.

HERE'S CHICAGO'S "LITTLE BALLOT"

The "little ballot" which will be banded to each voter at the Chicago aldermanic election on April 17 is forty-one inches long. The picture shows the length of the ballot as compared to the height of the average woman.

It is a lesson that all must learn when to the prosaic task of everyday living they turn with serious intent; when they try to make one dollar do the work of two, it can almost be done, for 'tis a well-known fact that one can stretch the buying powers of a dollar if they be inclined economically.

A woman must ask for money in the everyday home. A man must give the amount asked for if the sound basis is any cash on hand. The home that is generally the happiest is the one where the question of money is rarely alluded to, for the simple reason that providing there is any cash on hand, if there is not, why then are both conversant of the fact that the money they had has been spent in the wisest possible way. ## WomenWorthWhite.

By Selene Armstrong Harmon.

Mrs. Lincoln Karmany, wife of the Colonel Karmany in command of the Marine Barracks at Washington, is the great granddaughter of a man, who, for three generations has held a unique place in the affection of the American people. This man was Samuel Woodworth of Massachusetts. The original manuscript of the poem "The Old Oaken Bucket," which is still in possession of Mrs. Karmany's family, as are many other relics of the writer.

Mrs. Karmany herself is a native Californian. Her father and grandfather were naval officers, and her earliest associations were those of the army and navy. Colonel Karmany was at one time brigade commander in the Philippines, and Mrs. Karmany counts the two years spent in the far east as a rare experience.

"Those women who know the picturesque life of the Philippines," she says, "are to be envied by all who have never come under its spell. To go into that sort of life, to see the life which women from our army and navy circles lead out there, would require volumes. Many of the beautiful collections of old mahogany, and of embroideries and pictures picked up here and there on visits to Japan and China. For my self, I think I was most interested in the wonderful old brasses we found out there. The work which is known as the Southern Island trip, going from city to city of the Southern Islands by transport. It was during the month spent in these journeyings that we found so many beautiful and interesting copper and brass pieces. Tea kettles of great individuality are made by the Moros with the crudest of instruments. We picked up a number of these, some of them ornate to a degree. Chow bowls, bonny boxes of copper inlaid with silver, and trays of hammered brass, were other things which I found irresistible, and the interesting craftsmanship of which has been a constant delight to me since I brought them back to America with me.

Things of great price are also to be found in the Philippines, as you probably know, and at far more reasonable prices than they may be purchased in the United States. I recall what beautiful ones we saw at the side of the harbor, by the way, that one sees represented in the curtain goes up on the first act of the "Sultan of Sulu." I first met Frank Pixley, who wrote the libretto of that little opera, when we were in the Philippines. He never saw the harbor of Jolo until years after the opera had been put on, when he went there with the Secretary of War under ex-President Taft, Jacob M. Dickenson.

Mrs. Karmany is still loyal to the state of her birth, and hopes some day to reside at Santa Barbara, California. She keeps in close touch with her old friends there, and follows closely political movements in the state.

EVERYDAY TALKS FOR EVERYDAY PEOPLE

BY FRANCES JOYCE KENNEDY.

"I want some money John, please?" said the wife of an everyday John a few days back. The man addressed did not take the request just as lightly as he might have. In fact, to use rough vernacular, he seemed a bit peeved. "Money is about the only word you ever throw at me lately," he said. "What all you think I'm made of money? Think I'm Uncle Sam's mink?"

It is a lesson that all must learn when to the prosaic task of everyday living they turn with serious intent; when they try to make one dollar do the work of two, it can almost be done, for 'tis a well-known fact that one can stretch the buying powers of a dollar if they be inclined economically.

A woman must ask for money in the everyday home. A man must give the amount asked for if the sound basis is any cash on hand. The home that is generally the happiest is the one where the question of money is rarely alluded to, for the simple reason that providing there is any cash on hand, if there is not, why then are both conversant of the fact that the money they had has been spent in the wisest possible way. In union there is strength, and when a man and woman plan on just how and where the money that the man has earned is to be spent the result is rather apt to be harmonious than otherwise. A woman can easily keep tabs on every cent that is taken in in the average home and just as easily can she keep track of the disbursement. In this way she has a practical knowledge of every cent that passes through her fingers and harmony is the result in the family.

It is by no means an easy task for a man to rise every day, go forth in the early morning, and toil assiduously all the day; bring home his earnings and have them squandered by a hair-brained woman who has no more idea of the "value of a dollar" than an Italian ditch-digger has of a Paris spend just as well as a man should know how to earn. Being honest, does not the average woman know how to spend? Does she? Can you, and if you cannot, why not start today to see what the reason is that you cannot?

Did you ever stop to think you everyday mother, that if you cannot expend your money judiciously, it will not do your John much good to toil all day, every day; that the day will come for you both that the grim spectre of want will rise upon your horizon? Everyday woman, are you doing your share in the game?

Household Hint

THINGS WORTH KNOWING.

To treat the bath room window, paint the glass with a strong solution of epsom salts in hot water. The first step toward spring housecleaning is to turn out and put in order all the cupboards and drawers.

Knives produce a better polish and clean much quicker if they are moistened before they are rubbed on the board, turning once.

Sponging with gasoline or benzine will take grease spots out of plush.

THE TABLE.
Clean, wash and wipe dry. Roll in white cornmeal or in flour, lay inside in a cold place while you fry slices of fat salt pork quickly almost to a crisp. Stain the fat and return to the pan, lay in the fish and brown, turning once. When done, remove to a heated covered dish and keep hot over boiling water. To the fat left in the pan add a tablespoonful of butter and a little boiling water; boil up. When it begins to bubble add four tablespoonfuls of cream with a tiny pinch of soda. Stir until smoking-hot, and strain over the fish.

Brown Stew of Kidneys.—Split the kidneys, wash them, drain and cut into small pieces of uniform size. Four cold water over these and set at the side of the range, where they will come slowly to a boil. Just before the boiling point is reached turn off the hot water, substitute cold, and bring to a boil. Drain the kidneys and keep them not while you cook together a tablespoonful of kitchen bouquet, the same quantity of Worcestershire sauce, a half teaspoonful of lemon juice and a tablespoonful of currant jelly. Turn the kidneys into this and stir until very hot.

Pressed Veal.—Boil two pounds of lean veal in enough water to cover it. When cold remove the meat from the liquor, skin the meat, and from the latter and chop the meat fine. To the chopped veal add a cupful of minced boiled ham and two hard-boiled eggs, chopped. Season.

Make This and Try It for Coughs
This Home-Made Remedy has no Equal for Prompt Results.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with 3/4 pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle; then add the Sugar Syrup. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

This simple remedy takes hold of a cough more quickly than anything else you ever used. Usually conquers an ordinary cough inside of 24 hours. Splendid, too, for whooping cough, spasmodic croup and bronchitis. It stimulates the appetite and is slightly laxative, which helps end a cough.

This makes more and better cough syrup than you could buy ready made for $2.50. It keeps perfectly and tastes pleasant.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in quaiac and other natural pine elements which are so healing to the membranes. Other preparations will not work in this plan.

Making cough syrup with Pinex and sugar syrup (or strained honey) has proven so popular throughout the United States and Canada that it is often imitated. But the old, successful mixture has never been equaled.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. Your druggist has Pinex or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

The New Perfection Range

With the "Fireless Cooker" Oven

It is the triumph of the NEW PERFECTION, a splendid range with a cabinet top and an insulated FIRELESS oven that stops the loss of heat by radiation, a fault common to all other stoves.

This keeping the heat out of the kitchen and in the oven saves fuel. One burner does the work of two. You can have intense, quick heat, or slow and steady, as you want it.

After thorough heating the THERMOS oven holds heat six or seven hours, which makes it the most perfect and convenient fireless cooker ever invented.

The cabinet top has a spacious warming shelf, there is space behind the burner for heating food but doesn't overlook the special NEW PERFECTION broiler, supplied with this range, which broils on both sides at once, increasing tenderness and flavor.

Keeps the kitchen cool. Best of all, this range, burning clean, convenient, economical oil, makes your kitchen a cool, comfortable place to work.

No more of the suffocating heat that cooks suffer with a coal range, none of the dangers of gasoline, far cheaper than gas. Ready by striking a match. No dust, dirt or ashes, smoke or odor.

This newest PERFECTION with the THERMOS oven may be seen at the dealer's. You will know by the Triangle Trademark. Ask him to show it to you and explain its wonderful equipment—the THERMOS oven, broiler, and patent fuel supply tank, etc.

He has other PERFECTION models also, all equally efficient. You will find one at the price you want to pay, which will do all the work of a coal range without its deadly heat and without its dirt and trouble.

SOAP ON YOUR HAIR CAUSES DANDRUFF;
SCALP GETS DRY, THEN HAIR FALLS OUT

Girls! Boys! Get a 25 cent bottle and try a "Dandarine Hair Cleanse"—Save your hair!

After washing your hair with soap always apply a little Dandarine to the scalp to invigorate the hair and prevent dandruff. Better still, use soap as sparingly as possible and instead have a "Dandarine Hair Cleanse". Just moisten a cloth with Dandarine and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one strand at a time. This will remove dust, dirt and excessive oil. In a few moments you will be amazed, your hair will not only be clean, but it will be wavy, fluffy and abundant, and possess an inexpressible softness and lustre. Besides cleansing and beautifying the hair, one application of Dandarine dissolves every particle of dandruff, stimulates the scalp, stopping itching and falling hair. Dandarine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. It's exfoliating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

Men! Ladies! You can surely have lots of charming hair. Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Dandarine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it.

PIONEER KEY MAN IS DEAD AT SHARON

Rev. George F. Brigham, Veteran of Old Time Telegraphers' Association, Passes Away.

Sharon, Wis., March 19.—There is another gap in the swiftly thinning ranks of the "Forty-Niners" of the Old Time Telegraphers' Association. The Rev. George F. Brigham—he got the "Rev." after he had forsaken the key—is dead. In the '60s the old United-States Telegraph Company was the only one doing business in Chicago, and George Brigham was the only operator there and was in complete charge. He solicited business, waited on the counter, received messages from other cities and sent them.

But a time came when the profession of telegraphy seemed "over-crowded." Business boomed and another operator was taken on by the company. A couple of other duly qualified operators appeared in the city and announced they were looking for work. Soon after that Brigham entered the service of the Northwestern road.

When he went to work for the railroad Brigham was 35 years old. Eleven years later he took deacon's orders in the Episcopal church, but he stuck to his job until he was 70. That was seven years ago and he announced that he thought the time had come when it would be better for him to retire from business life and devote himself to religious work, and went to labor with a flock in Sharon, Wisconsin.

He still kept in touch with his old friends of his days at the key, however—now become members of the Old Time Telegraphers' Association. That organization is not made up of hard-boiled youths by any means, but among them were a few pioneers of the Morse code, who clubbed together and called themselves the "Forty-Niners" that they might not be confused with the youngsters. Two of the few were the Rev. Mr. Brigham and a well-to-do Scotch-American named Andrew Carnegie.

Mr. Brigham leaves three sons—Edmund D. Brigham, assistant freight manager of the Northwestern; George F. Brigham, Jr., general agent of the Northwestern, and Henry H. Brigham, president of the Atlantic Seaboard Dispatch, Chicago. One daughter, Mrs. Fanny B. Arnold, Sharon, also survives.

Funeral services were held in Sharon Wednesday afternoon.

CHISELED ON MARBLE.

Every reader knows, probably, that in the very ancient days of Babylon and Assyria the writing was done on stone and on terra cotta tablets. The writing was permanent—more so, it is to be feared, than that done today with perishable ink on fragile paper.

John Jones (real name concealed), marble cutter of New Jersey, may or may not know about the ancient writings. The present writer does not know.

But he does know that when John Jones wanted to write an abusive, scurrilous letter to another marble worker he took in hand his chisel and hammer, which should have been sacred to better things, and carved the missive on marble. Then he hung it on the doorstep of his enemy's home.

Result—John Jones has been adjudged insane.

Not many persons choose the method of John Jones in writing matter unworthy of the material on which it is inscribed. But many others, not insane as he was, cut their messages deeply and indelibly on human hearts and minds, which are, as Byron says, "wax to receive and marble to retain."

When you wound a heart which trusts you—

You are carving your record on marble.

When you speak harshly to an innocent child—

Your words will be retained.

When you abuse your position of trust or authority to inflict wounds upon those who are dependent upon you, you are using the chisel and mallet on living flesh.

You are then as the one of whom Omar Khayyam wrote:

The moving finger writes, and, having writ, Moves on: nor all your piety nor wit Shall lure it back to cancel half a line. Nor all your tears wash out a word of it.

There is nothing original in denouncing the careless word, spoken heedlessly. Nor is there newness in asserting that the written word should be scanned a score of times, before it is sent on its mission.

"Littera scripta manet," said the Romans.

It means: "The written letter remains." So does the spoken word, which too often rises to plague its parent. It is inscribed on the marble tablets of memory.

WELL BY COMPARISON. Friend—How came you by that black Johnny?—If you could see de eye I put on Bill Jones you'd think dere's nothin' do matter with mine.

Soda Relieves

Indigestion or Acid Stomach

Few stomach sufferers know that indigestion, sourness, and gases are not caused by a lack of digestive juices, but result always from acidity, meaning there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach, which retards digestion and promotes food fermentation. Everything eaten passes to the stomach in the form of acids in a can, forming acid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. Then we get a heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest, we belch gas and eructate food or have heartburn, water-brash, bloating and nausea.

A well-known authority states that a 10 grain Sodagen tablet taken any time, followed by a tumbler of water instantly neutralizes these stomach acids; stops fermentation, absorbs the gases and sweetens the entire digestive tract. He says any pharmacist can supply a package of 10 grain Sodagen tablets as they are constantly prescribed for stomach acidity because of their harmlessness to the digestive organs, being composed of Sodium Chloride, Calcium Carbonate and Magnesia U. ## IN SUCH PAIN WOMAN CRIED Suffered Everything Until Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Florence, So. Dakota.—"I used to be very sick every month with bearing down pains and backache, and had headache a good deal of the time and very little appetite. The pains were so bad that I used to sit right down on the floor and cry, because it hurt me so and I could not do any work at those times. An old woman advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I got a bottle. I felt better the next month so I took three more bottles of it and got well so I could work all the time. I hope every woman who suffers like I did will try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. P. W. LANSING, Route No. 1, Florence, South Dakota.

Why will women continue to suffer day in and day out or drag out a sickly, half-hearted existence, missing three-fourths of the joy of living when they can find health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has restored the health of thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, etc.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Throw Away Your Eye-Glasses!

A Free Prescription

You Can Have Filled and Use at Home. Do you wear glasses? Are you a victim of eyestrain or other eye-weakness? If so, you will be glad to know that there is real hope for you. Many whose eyes were failing, say they have had their eyes restored through the principle of this wonderful free prescription. One man says, after trying it: "I was almost blind; could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without any glasses and my eyes do not water any more. At night they would pain dreadfully; now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days everything seems clear." I can even read fine print without glasses! It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by following the simple rules. Here is the prescription: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Optona. Fill a two ounce bottle with warm water, drop in one Optona tablet and allow to dissolve. With this liquid, bathe the eyes two to four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start and inflammation will quickly disappear. If your eyes are bothering you even a little, take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have been saved if they had cared for their eyes in time. Advertisement.

The Hollow of Her Hand

By
GEORGE BARR MORTCHERON

Illustrations by Elsworth Young

"I am tired, wretchedly tired. It has been a most exhausting day," she said, with a sudden note of weariness in her voice. Both men started up apologetically. "I will think seriously of your plan, Mr. Carroll. There is no hurry, I'm sure. Please send Miss Wrandsall in to me, will you? Perhaps you would better tell Hetty to come in as soon as Vivian leaves. Come back tomorrow afternoon, Brandon. I shall be much more cheerful. By the way, have you noticed that Dicky, out in the library, has been singing all afternoon as if his little throat would split? It is very curious, but today is the first time he has uttered a note in nearly five months. Just listen to him! He is fairly riotous with song."

Booth leaned over and kissed the hand she lifted to him. "He is like the rest of us, Sara, 'inordinately happy.' A slight shiver ran through her arm. He felt it.

"I am so afraid his exuberance of spirit may annoy Vivian," said she, with a rare smile. "She detests vulgarity."

The men departed. She lay back in the chaise-louge, her eyes fixed on the hand he had touched with his lips. Watson tapped twice on the door.

"Miss Wrandsall could not wait, ma'am," he said, opening the door softly. "She will call again tomorrow."

"Thank you, Watson. Will you hand me the cigarettes?"

Watson hesitated. "The cigarettes, ma'am?"

"Yes."

"But the doctor's orders, ma'am, begging your pardon for—"

"I have a new doctor, Watson."

"I beg pardon, ma'am!"

"The celebrated Doctor Folly," she said lightly.

CHAPTER XX.

Sara Wrandsall's Decision. "Now, you see what I mean, Brandon, when I insist that it would be a mistake for you to marry me," said Hetty in a troubled voice. "I feel that Sara will not let me go."

"That's pure nonsense, Hetty," he said. "She wants you to marry me, I am positive. He may have thought his tone convincing, but something caused her to regard him rather fixedly, as if she were trying to solve an elusive puzzle.

He took her by the arm and raised her to her feet. Holding her quite close, he looked down into her questioning eyes and said very seriously: "You are suspicious, even of me, dearest. I want you. There is but one way for you to be at peace with yourself; shift your cares over to my shoulders. I will stand between you and everything that may come up to trouble you. We love one another. Why should we sacrifice our love for the sake of a shadow? For a week, dearest, I've been pleading with you; won't you end the suspense today—end it now—and say you will be my wife?"

The appeal was so gentle, so sincere, so full of longing that she wavered. Her tender blue eyes, lately so full of dread, grew moist with the ineffable sweetness of love, and capitulation was in them. Her warm, red lips parted in a dear little smile of surrender. "You know I love you," she said tremulously.

He kissed the lovely, appealing lips, not once but many times.

"God, how I worship you," he whispered passionately. "I can't go on without you, darling. You are life to me. I love you!—I love you!"

She drew back in his arms, the shadow chasing the light out of her eyes.

"We are both living in the present, we are both thinking only of it, Brandon. What of the future? Can we foresee the future? Dear heart, I am always thinking of your future, not my own. Is it right for me to bring you—" And I am thinking only of your future," he said gravely. "The future that shall be mine to shape and to make glad with the fulfillment of every promise that love has to store for both of us. Put away the doubts, drive out the shadows, dearest. Live in the light for ever. Love is light."

"If I were only sure that my shadows would not descend upon you, I— He drew her close and kissed her again.

"I am not afraid of your shadows. God be my witness, Hetty, I glory in them. They do not reflect weakness, but strength and nobility. They make you all the more worth having. I thank God that you are what you are, dear heart."

"Give me a few days longer, Brandon," she pleaded. "Let me conquer this strange thing that lies here in my brain. My heart is yours, my soul is yours. But the brain is a rebel. I must triumph over it, or it will always lie in wait for a chance to overthrow this little kingdom of ours. Today I have been terrified. I am disturbed. Give me a few days longer."

"I would not grant you the respite, were I not so sure of the outcome," he said gently, but there was a thrill of triumph in the tones. Her eyes grew very dark and soft and her lips trembled with the tide of love that surged through her body. "Oh, how adorable you are!" he cried, straining her close in a sudden ecstasy of passion.

The doorbell rang. They drew apart, breathing rapidly, their blood leaping with the contact of opposing passions, their flesh quivering. With a shy, sweet glance at him, she turned toward the door to await the appearance of Watson. He could still feel her in his arms.

A drawing voice came to them from the vestibule, and a moment later Leslie Wrandsall entered the library, pulling off his gloves as he came.

"Hello," he said glibly. "I told that fellow downstairs it wasn't necessary to announce me by telephone. Silly arrangement, I say. Why the devil should they think everybody's a thief or a book agent or a constable with a subpoena? He knows I'm one of the family. I'm likely to run in any time, I told him, and— Oh, I say, I'm not butting in, am I, Miss Castleton?"

He shook hands with both of them, and then offered his cigarette case to Booth, first selecting one for himself. Hetty assured him that he was not de trop, sheer profligacy on her part in view of his readiness to concede the point without a word from her.

"Nipping wind," he said, taking his stand before the fireplace. "Where is Sara? Never mind, don't bother her. I've got all the time in the world. By the way, Miss Castleton, what is the latest news from your father?"

"I dare say you have later news than I," she said, a trace of annoyance in her manner.

"I thought perhaps he had written you about his plans."

"My father does not know that I have returned to New York."

"Oh, I see. Of course. Um—um! By the way, I think the colonel is a corker. One of the most amiable thoroughbreds I've ever come across. Ripping. He's never said anything to me about your antipathy toward him, but I can see with half an eye that he is terribly depressed about it. Can't you get together some way on—"

"Really, Mr. Wrandsall, you are encouraging my imagination to a point where words ultimately must fail you," she said very positively. Booth could hardly repress a chuckle.

"It's not imagination on my part," said Leslie with conviction, frowning utterly to recognize the obvious. "I suppose you know that he is coming over to visit me for six weeks or so. We became rattling good friends before we parted. My love, you should hear him on old Lord Margatroyd's will! The quaintness of wit! I couldn't take it as he does. Expectations and all that sort of thing, you know, going up like a hot air balloon and bursting in plain view. But he never squeaked. Laughed it off. A British attribute, I dare say. I suppose you know that he is obliged to sell his estate in Ireland?"

Hetty started. She could not conceal the look of shame that leaped into her eyes.

"I did not know," she murmured. "Must be quite a shock to you. Sit down, Brandy. You look very picturesque standing, but chairs were made to sit upon—or in, whichever is proper. Booth shrugged his shoulders.

"I think I'll stand, if you don't mind, Les."

"I merely suggested it, old chap, fearing you might have overlooked the possibilities. Yes, Miss Castleton, he left us in London to go up to Belfast on this dismal business." There was something in the back of his mind that he was trying to get at in a tactful manner. "By the way, is this property entailed?"

"I know nothing at all about it, Mr. Wrandsall," said she, with a pleading glance at her lover, as if to inquire what stand she should take in this distressing situation.

"If it is entailed he can't sell it," said Booth quietly.

"That's true," said Leslie, somewhat dubiously. Then, with a magnanimity that covered a multitude of doubts he added: "Of course, I am only interested in seeing that you are properly protected. Miss Castleton. I've no doubt you hold an interest in the estates."

"I can't very well discuss a thing I know absolutely nothing about," she said succinctly.

"Most of it is in building lots and factories in Belfast, of course. It was more in the nature of a question than a declaration. "The old family castle isn't very much of an asset, I take it."

"I fancy you can trust Colonel Castleton to make the best possible deal in the premises," said Booth drily.

"I suppose so," said the other resignedly. "He is a shrewd beggar, I'm convinced of that. Strange, however, that I haven't heard a word from him since he left us in London. I've been expecting a cablegram from him every day for nearly a fortnight, letting me know when to expect him."

"Are you going to California, this winter for the flying?" asked Hetty.

Sara entered at that juncture, and they all sat down to listen for half an hour to Leslie's harangue on the way the California met was being managed, at the end of which he departed.

He took Booth away with him, much to that young man's disgust.

"Do you know, Brandy, old fellow," said he as they walked down Fifth avenue in the gathering dusk of the fifth winter evening, "ever since I've begun to suspect that damned old humbug of a father of hers, I've been congratulating myself that there isn't the remotest chance of his ever becoming my father-in-law. And by George, you'll never know how near I was to leaping blindly into the brambles. What a close call I had!"

Booth's sarcastic smile was hidden by the dusk. He made no pretense of openly resenting the meanness of spirit that moved Leslie to these caustic remarks. He merely announced in a dry, cutting voice:

"I think Miss Castleton is to be congratulated that her injury is no greater than nature made it in the beginning."

"What do you mean by 'nature'?"

"Nature gave her a father, didn't it?"

"Obviously."

"Well, why add insult to injury?"

"By Jove! Oh, I say, old man!" They parted at the next corner.

Booth started to cross over to the Plaza, Leslie called out after him:

"I say, Brandy, just a second, please. Are you going to marry Miss Castleton?"

"I am."

"Then, I retract the scurvy things I said back there. I asked her to marry me three times and she refused me three times. What I said about the brambles was rotten. I'd ask her again!

Don't Fuss With Mustard Plasters!

There's no sense in mixing up a mess of mustard, flour and water and getting everything all mussed up when you can so easily relieve that pain or soreness with a little clean, white MUSTEROLE.

MUSTEROLE is made of pure oil of mustard and other helpful ingredients, combined in the form of a pleasant white ointment. It takes the place of the out-of-date mustard plaster, and will not blister!

MUSTEROLE gives instant relief from Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Tonsillitis, Croup, Stiff Neck, Asthma, Neuralgia, Headache, Congestion, Pleurisy, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Pains and Aches of the Back or Joints, Sprains, Sore Muscles, Bruises, Chubblains, Frosted Feet, Colds of the Chest (it prevents Pneumonia).

At your druggist's, in 25c and 50c jars, and a special large hospital size for $2.50.

Accept no substitute. If your druggist cannot supply you, send 25c or 50c to the MUSTEROLE Company, Cleveland, Ohio, and we will mail you a jar, postage prepaid.

Miss C. Biedinghizer, Nurse, Washington, Pa., says: "I have used Musterole on patients and consider it fine." (71)

If I thought she'd have me! There you are, old fellow. I'm a rotten cad, but I apologize to you just the same."

"You're learning, Leslie," said Booth, taking the hand the other held out to him.

While the painter was dining at his club later on in the evening, he was called to the telephone. Watson was on the wire. He said that Mrs. Wrandsall would like to know if Mr. Booth could drop in on her for a few minutes after dinner, "to discuss a very important matter, if you please, sir."

At nine o'clock, Booth was in Sara's library, trying to grasp a new and remarkable phase in the character of that amazing woman.

He found Hetty waiting for him when he arrived.

"I don't know what it all means, Brandon," she said hurriedly, looking over her shoulder as she spoke. "Sara says that she has come to a decision of some sort. She wants us to hear her plan before making it final. I—I don't understand her at all tonight."

"It can't be anything serious, dearest," he said, but something cold and nameless oppressed him just the same.

"She asked me if I had finally decided to—to be your wife, Brandon. I said I had asked you for two or three days more in which to decide. It seemed to depress her. She said she didn't see how she could give me up, even to you. She wants to be near me always. It is—it is really tragic, Brandon."

Two lawyers, one a veteran and the other a novice, were arguing a case before a judge renowned for his incorruptibility. The novice, however, was unaware of this. "Taking the veteran, his opponent aside before the case went on, he said:

"Don't you think it would be a good move for me to send a box of cigars to the judge, with my card in it?"

The other flung up his hands in horror. "Man, your case would be as good as lost!" he exclaimed. "The judge prides himself on his honesty above all else, and he'd decide against you, no matter what the evidence was, simply to teach you not to try bribery with him."

"Oh, I guess it'll be all right if I send the cigars," insisted the novice. The other, too disgusted to give him any further good advice, left him to his fate.

The case was tried and decided by the judge in favor of the novice. The latter, much elated, buttonholed his veteran opponent as he was leaving the courtroom.

"Well, I sent the cigars to the judge!" he announced, triumphantly. "You did, did you?" said the other, incredulously. "I'm simply amazed
